

I am extremely concerned about the trend the FCC has undertaken in the past number of years to allow greater numbers of radio and TV stations to be owned by a handful of corporations. Continuing this trend is very dangerous. The FCC has an obligation to protect the the public good. Continuation of this concentration of control does not serve the public interest.

I believe our recent experience with the media in general during the US military attack on Iraq serves as a good example of how concentration of the media can result in an imcomplete picture of reality. This is made even more dangerous when legitimized by our government.

Please vote against concentrating the media in fewer and fewer hands.
